To Whom It May Concern:

Reference for: Jeff Street

In my capacity as IT Director of Aon Managed Services Jeff Street worked for me as a project manager between January 2004 and February 2005 on a programme of business divestments. Jeff was responsible for the management of the IT aspects for the largest of the businesses involving over 1000 operational staff in 4 locations. He was involved from project inception through to successful completion during which time his responsibilities included:

- Input to contract negotiation
- Detailed planning both internally and with the buying party
- Execution of the agreed IT transition plan
- Management and reporting to main board member level
- Project budgetary control
- Liaison with buying party's IT senior management
- Escalation of issues arising

Jeff was a highly motivated and effective member of the team. He worked efficiently and enthusiastically in a high pressure environment working within contractually binding timescales. Amongst Jeff's key strengths were his ability to tackle the wide range of activities involved and engage with staff at all levels to ensure successful completion.

Jeff was well respected for his professionalism, dependability and attention to detail. In addition I always found his communication, reporting and escalation of issues accurate, timely and appropriate.

Subsequently Jeff also worked for me on another business divestment in parallel with the later stages of the above and also managed the benchmarking of our existing infrastructure outsource contract utilising an external benchmarking company.

I would have no hesitation in utilising Jeff's services in future or of recommending him to others.

Yours faithfully
